COLLEGE SAINT-JEAN BEGINNING A NEW ERA

Last Friday, the alumni of Collège Saint-Jean held a special evening of ceremony, dining, and entertainment to honor and say good-bye to the Oblate Fathers, who have served the Collège for so many years.

Since the association was established in 1970 between the Collège and the University, the Fathers have retained the nonacademic functions of the Collège. These include the administration and maintenance of the residences, organization of cultural events, sports, and the maintenance of the library. Through mutual agreement, the University will assume all these functions in addition to the academic function which has been the University's since 1970.

With the spiralling costs of higher education and without the aid of public funds, the Collège, as a private institution, could not continue to develop. Historically, it has been the objective of the Oblate Fathers to preserve French Canadian culture where there are no other institutions to do so. Equally, if not more important to the fathers, is their role in serving the poor. Now that the assistance of public funds has ensured the continuance of a centre for French Canadian culture and education, the Fathers have decided to go elsewhere to serve areas of greater need.

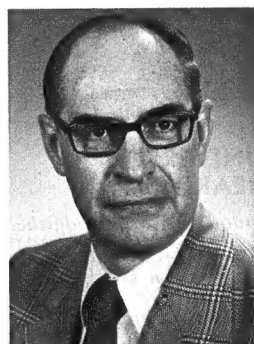

Coupled with this is the desire expressed by the French Canadian public for an institution of higher learning designed for them but fully integrated with the secular system. The change in emphasis appears to be from the religious reality to the Canadian reality.

The academic program, for the most part, will remain the same. The residences, however, will be administrated by the Department of Housing and Food Services. The terms and conditions under which the University will assume responsibility for the Collège are still being negotiated between the University and the provincial government. The federal government has also indicated that federal support can be expected to help develop Collège Saint-Jean. Essentially, though, the University will operate the Collège as it was instituted—a bilingual and bicultural centre for higher education.

APPOINTMENTS

Doris Badir has been selected Dean of the Faculty of Home Economics effective July 1. Professor Badir holds a BSc in Home Economics from the University of Manitoba, an MSc in Education from Syracuse University, and an MSc in Economics from the London School of Economics and Political Science. Joining the academic staff of the University in 1967, she was assistant professor in the Family Studies Division, School of Household Economics, from 1971 to 1974 when she became associate professor. In 1975, she was appointed Chairman of the Family Studies Division. Professor Badir is a member of many associations, and she is currently conducting a study of consumer credit decisions made by automobile purchasers.

Jack Longworth will become Chairman of the Department of Civil Engineering effective July 1. Professor Longworth received a BSc degree in Civil Engineering from the University of Alberta in 1945 and an MSc degree in Civil Engineering from the University of Illinois in 1947. His research interests concern the behavior of composite steel and concrete beams and the behavior of glued laminated timber beams and timber connections. Professor Longworth is a member of the Association of Professional Engineers, Geologists, and Geophysicists of Alberta and of the review board for the Canadian Society for Civil Engineering Journal. He is also a member of several technical committees, including three connected with the National Research Council of Canada.

John C. MacKenzie has been appointed Chairman of the Department of Philosophy effective July 1. Professor MacKenzie, who holds an MA degree in Social Science from the University of St. Andrews, Scotland, and a Master of Letters degree from the University of Edinburgh, came to the University of Alberta in 1967. He has served on many University committees, including the Faculty of Arts Honors Committee and the Faculty of Arts Academic Principles and Aims Committee. Professor MacKenzie has published in Philosophical Quarterly and has lectured on morality and abortion, human rights, and environmental problems. He has taught courses in moral philosophy, advanced ethics, introduction to western philosophy, philosophy of religion, and philosophy of the environment.

John Forster has been appointed Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research effective July 1. Dr. Forster received a BA in Sociology from Kent State University in 1952, an MA degree in Sociology and Anthropology from the University of Hawaii in 1954, and a PhD in Sociology and Anthropology from the University of California in 1959. He has served as Associate Chairman and Chairman of the Department of Sociology, and he has been Associate Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research since 1972. Social and economic development and social change hold his primary professional interests, and he holds memberships in the Canadian Sociology and Anthropology Association, the Association for Social Anthropology in Oceania, the American Anthropological Association, and the Canadian Population Society.

CHILEANS ASSISTED BY UNIVERSITY CHAPLAINS

On September 11, 1973, a military coup in Chile overthrew the elected Allende government. All organizations of the left were banned, including workers' unions, and "leftist" literature, such as that by Mark Twain, was burned. Under the new regime, many Chileans left the country, and approximately 1,000 have settled in the Edmonton area.

Concerned with the problems these people would have adapting to a new country, the University Chaplains decided to set up a volunteer tutor organization to assist the Chileans' grasp of English. Soon, however, they realized the complexities of adjustment to a new country and implemented programs headed by Pastor Ken Kuhn of the Chaplains' Office.

Since that time, Pastor Kuhn, the Spanish Club, and other Chileans have assisted the newcomers with learning English, finding homes and jobs, and relating the Chileans' professional qualifications to the jobs available in Canada. Now, approximately fifty people are tutoring.

The Interchurch Committee on Chile, which is related to the Canadian Council of Churches, has given support to the acceptance of Chileans. Canada Manpower will subsidize them until jobs are found and will give four months of language training for those who are going to be working. More tutors are needed, however, and people in the University community could assist Chilean's in gaining entrance to the professions for which they are qualified.

GFC SELECTION COMMITTEE VACANCIES

The GFC Nominating Committee is seeking nominations for the following prospective selection committees:

1. Chairman of the Department of Accounting
2. Chairman of the Department of Organizational Analysis
3. Chairman of the Department of Finance and Management Studies
4. Chairman of the Department of Marketing and Economic Analysis
5. Chairman of the Department of Industrial and Legal Relations.

Regulations governing the composition of Selection Committees for Department Chairman require that one member, not a member of the Department concerned, be elected by General Faculties Council.

Those who have suggestions for nominations or who are interested in serving on the above Committees are requested to contact the Secretary of the Nominating Committee, L. Plaskitt, 1-15 University Hall, telephone 432-4715.

GFC GENERAL UNIVERSITY DISCIPLINARY HEARING

The following information has been published at the request of M.M. Midgley, Secretary of GFC Procedures on Discipline, Law, and Order:

Two Engineering students were brought before a General University Disciplinary Hearing two weeks ago on the charge that one of the students had required the other to sit an examination for him and that the other did go and sit the examination using the first student's name. The Disciplinary Tribunal found both students guilty of this offence, and they were each suspended from the University for one year.

CHASNALA RELIEF FUND

On December 31, 1975, nearly 372 miners died at the Chasnala Coal Mine (Bihar) India due to a sudden flooding. Needless to say, this tragedy attracted worldwide attention to the already poverty ridden families of these miners; the loss must have been phenomenal. Understandably, efforts were made to help these people by the Government and other international agencies. The Indian Students' Association of this University also launched a campaign to express its sentiments by raising a Relief Fund. Response to this campaign was quite encouraging and a sum of $1,178 was collected. Arrangements are now underway to transfer this amount directly to the affected people.

The Association, however, feels that this sum is not commensurate with the losses which the disaster stricken families have suffered. The Association is therefore continuing its efforts in this connection and contributions toward the Chasnala Relief Fund will be greatly appreciated. Interested individuals or parties may send their contribution money in care of The Chasnala Relief Fund, c/o Foreign Students Adviser, 2-5 University Hall. Receipts of the contributions will be duly issued.

SERVICE CORRIDOR EXTENSION

The underground service corridor, which extends about three and one half miles and is four to six feet below the surface of the campus, will be extended this summer.

Work on the initial portion of the structural shell has been started. Poole Construction Limited was awarded the contract for this portion of the project. From an existing junction northwest of the Electrical Engineering Building, the new arm of the corridor, Phase IV, will span the quad, pass between Athabasca and Pembina, turn north under Athabasca Annex, and rejoin the existing corridor northeast of the Mechanical Engineering Building.

The service corridor consists of a ten foot by ten foot walk-through concrete tunnel and houses such utility systems as steam lines, electrical power, telephone wires, chilled water, compressed air, domestic water, and fire alarms, all of which function to meet the service needs of the buildings above.

The only service not accommodated in the service corridors is the sewer line system. This is housed separately and further beneath the surface. Earlier this year, work was completed on a project replacing an out-dated combined sewer system in the same area of the west campus.

The new arm of the service tunnel will relieve a system of direct buried pipes, which presently service the buildings along the new route. Many of these are worn out and cannot be expected to operate reliably any longer.

The service corridor will consolidate all these piping systems, and by rerouting them through the corridor accessibility within the tunnel will permit regular inspection, maintenance, and repair. This will result in the same high level of service reliability being brought to this area as is enjoyed elsewhere on campus.

The location of the new corridor was chosen to avoid as much unnecessary disruption to the area as possible. Extensive care has been taken in the planning and in the construction work, itself, to prevent damage to buildings and landscape. It is anticipated that the major structural work will be completed by the late fall of this year so that sod can be laid before winter.

The work will be undertaken in three stages. The tunnel portion under Athabasca Annex is estimated to be finished by July 1. Completion of the portion extending across the quad is expected by September 1. The balance of the work should be out of the way by October.

The Departments of Entomology and Art and Design have been displaced from portions of the Athabasca Annex to allow the service corridor work to proceed under the building. The space lost by these departments as a result of these activities has been made available in a temporary Entomology building located west of Athabasca Annex and in the old North Power Plant for Art and Design.

VISITORS

■ Joseph Lyons, University of California, Davis, conducted a series of seminars sponsored by the Centre for Advanced Study in Theoretical Psychology on the topic "The Role of the body in the history of Western culture."

■ A. Boardman, University of Salford, England, presented a Theoretical Physics Seminar on "Some aspects of surface plasmon-polaritons." The seminar was sponsored by the Department of Physics.

Wirtschaftsforschung in Giessen, Bocconi University in Milan, Geschwister-Scholl-Institute in Munich, Institute für Angewandte Sozialforschung in Cologne, and Institute Français de Presse in Paris.

■ Milan V. Dimić, Professor of Comparative Literature, attended the meetings of the Bureau and the Coordinating Committee of the International Comparative Literature Association in Visegrad, Hungary, on a Canada Council grant and submitted reports on the Association's publications and finances.

■ Stephen H. Arnold, Associate Professor of Comparative Literature, presented a paper at the annual African Literature Association meeting at Northwestern University. He also gave a lecture and a seminar as guest of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology at Laurentian University and three lectures to audiences from the Five Colleges Community in Amherst, Massachusetts, where his visit was sponsored by the Schools of Humanities and Arts, Communications and Linguistics, and Social Sciences of Hampshire College.

■ Juliet McMaster, Associate Professor of English, has been awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship for 1976-77. She is one of four Canadians to have been awarded the fellowship this year. Dr. McMaster will be working on completion of a book on Anthony Trollope's Palliser novels. This month, she will be delivering a paper on Trollope at the annual conference of the Victorian Studies Association of Ontario.

■ G.S. McCaughey, Professor of English, has been invited to be a participant member of the Institute in Northwest Literature and History at the University of Oregon in June. The twenty invited participants will conduct seminars and symposia on literature, history, and folklore in commemoration of the Centennial of the University of Oregon and the Bicentennial of the United States. Professor McCaughey was invited to speak at a professional seminar of the Alberta Hospitals Commission at Collingwood Acres. Professor McCaughey's talk was on the question of present day communications. He was a keynote speaker at a seminar sponsored by the Association of Professional Engineers, Geologists, and Geophysicists of Alberta, and he gave two lectures, "The English language, ultimo, instant, proximo" and "Talking letters and listening audiences."

■ A. Nakamura, Assistant Professor, and M. Nakamura, Associate Professor, Business Administration and Commerce, are the director and co-director of a research project, "A Microanalytic study of the labour force behaviour of married women in Canada," which has been funded by Statistics Canada as part of its 1971 Census Research Program.

PEOPLE

■ Alexander Matejko, Professor of Sociology, has submitted his evidence to the Industrial Democracy Committee of the British Government. The Committee is chaired by Sir Alan Bullock. Dr. Matejko has presented seminars on employees' participation at the University of Lancaster, the Management Centre at Bradford University, the Institute of Social Studies in the Hague, and one of the institutes in London. He is a Senior Visiting Member at St. Antony's College in Oxford. His book on Upgrading of the Zambians was recently published by Sadhna Prakashan in Meerut. In May, Dr. Matejko will present papers at the International Institute of Management in Berlin, Zentrum für Agrar- und

■ Bert Almon, Associate Professor of English, has two poems, "White Sands/New Mexico" and "The Trove," included in a just-published anthology, New and Experimental Literature, from the Texas Center for Writers Press.

The anthology includes outstanding stories and poems by nationally known writers such as R.V. Cassill, John Clellon Holmes, Michael Mewshaw, and Edwin Honig.

■ Richard Jung, Associate Professor of Sociology, presented a Seminar-in-the-Round on April 5 entitled "Cybernetic phenomenology" and sponsored by the Centre for Advanced Study in Theoretical Psychology.

■ W. Gough and C. McCloughan, Research Assistants, and C. Oberg and J. Bannister, Graduate Students, Department of Physics, gave the grade eight classes of Grandview Junior High School and their teacher, G. Woodrow, interesting demonstrations in the areas of paleomagnetism, geomagnetism, and seismology on April 6 and 7. The classes visited the geophysics area of the Physics Department and the tour was ended by an extensive study of rocks, volcanoes, earthquakes, and plate tectonics.

NOTICES

POST OFFICE MOVED

The Campus Mail Post Office has moved from Athabasca Hall to the Old Power Plant. The Power Plant is located between the South Lab and the Dentistry-Pharmacy Building.

EDMONTON RECORDER SOCIETY

The Edmonton Recorder Society will meet for a performance of recorders and other instruments on Friday, April 23, at 8 p.m. in the Southwest Cultural Centre, 115 Street and 74 Avenue. For more information, phone Louise Dawson at 434-0091.

FAMILY YOGA

The University Yoga Fitness Centre will organize a course in Basic Hatha Yoga for interested students and their families living in the Millwoods area. The course will emphasize fitness and relaxation.

Classes will be held in Millwoods on a once-a-week basis commencing April 26. For more information, phone 427-2015 during the day, and 462-3364 in the evening.

AQUATIC TRAINING PROGRAM

The University will be offering a training program for high school students who will not be working for the summer. The candidates will receive training in swimming pool administration and operation, swimming instruction, and lifeguarding in preparation for a full or part-time employment in aquatics.

The program will run part-time in May and June and full-time (five days a week) in July and August. Candidates will gain experience and obtain qualifications necessary for aquatic employment. The minimum age is 14 years and the entry deadline is April 10. Applications are available in 116 Physical Education and Recreation Centre or from Ron Kirstein, West Pool, telephone 432-3570. Enrolment is limited, so all interested students are advised to apply early.

SENIOR CITIZENS' SPRING SESSION

On May 3 begins the University's special three-week session for people over the age of sixty-five and their spouses (though they may not have reached age sixty-five yet). The session features a variety of courses such as courses in writing fiction, non-fiction, and local history; indoor and outdoor gardening; contemporary Canadian issues; comparative religion; music appreciation; introductory philosophy; and a course dealing with living on a reduced income.

Free accommodation is provided in the Lister Hall Complex for students from outside Edmonton, and food will be provided at reasonable rates. It is possible for those who come from outside Edmonton to obtain rebates for their travel expenses.

Although the normal registration deadline for the special spring session is April 16, the deadline will likely be extended if classes are not filled to capacity. More information can be obtained from Monda Wadsworth, Faculty of Extension, at 432-3033.

EXHIBITION OF WALL HANGINGS

Mythological figures created by Louisa Cahill are the theme of an exhibit in the Students' Union Building on April 19. Mrs. Cahill originally became interested in Amerindian culture, aesthetics, and symbolism while researching an educational project several years ago. The fifteen wall hangings represent her interpretation of some important motifs gleaned from her research. Six deal with specifically Canadian material. Each hanging has a description indicating the tribe and the significance of the archetypal design. The artist will be available to discuss the collection from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. on the day of the exhibit.

DIAL-A-DIETITIAN

A new public service called "Dial-a-Dietitian," sponsored by the Alberta Registered Dietitians Association, began on Monday, April 12. The service allows persons to call 439-4442 (an answering service) and ask questions about nutrition; within forty-eight hours a volunteer registered dietitian will return the call with a researched answer.

Questions regarding infant feeding, health foods, additives, grading of food, and so on, will be answered. No recipes found in standard cookbooks will be given; questions regarding specific diets prescribed by physicians will be answered but no diets will be given over the phone.

LECTURES AND MEDITATION

The Edmonton Dharma Study Group will present two lectures, "Boredom" and "Sense of Humor," to be given by Judy Lief, Vajradhātu Instructor and student of the Buddhist teacher, Chogyam Trungpa Rinpoche. The lectures will be given on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 20 and 21, at 8 p.m. in 270 Students' Union Building.

There will also be a day-long meditation practice both days from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the same location. Admission to both lectures is $5; for the day-long meditation, $15 both days. Further information can be obtained by phoning 432-3489 or 436-2582.

NON-CREDIT COURSES

MOTIVATION AND PRODUCTIVITY AND THE EFFECTIVE EXECUTIVE

Two programs using management films have been scheduled by the Faculty of Extension. Motivation and Productivity will be held May 3 and will utilize three Saul Gellerman films. This program has been designed to introduce managers to selected research findings of behavioral science and to indicate how management principles and techniques based on this research can be applied to increase productivity and profits. The second program is entitled The Effective Executive and will be held May 17. In this program, four of Peter Drucker's films will be shown.

Registrations for both seminars will be in 228 Corbett Hall. The fee has been assessed at $60 for both programs and $35 for one, only. Obtain additional information on these programs by calling 432-5066 or 432-5067.

MANAGEMENT OF DISCONTINUITY

Charles A. Lee, Professor of Business Administration and Commerce, will conduct this two-day seminar for the Faculty of Extension May 6 and 7.

The seminar will combine lectures, films, and round table discussions in an effort to assist managers in all kinds of organizations—business, industry, government, education, and volunteer agencies—to look at the problems of today and tomorrow in a realistic, innovative, and futuristic manner. The seminar will be of special interest to corporate and organizational senior executives who are responsible for long-range planning and other executive groups embarking on a management by objectives program or forming a project team.

Registrations for this seminar are accepted in 228 Corbett Hall. The fee is $95 including luncheons, textbook, and materials. Obtain additional information by calling 432-5066 or 432-5067.

MEDICAL ENGLISH TERMINOLOGY

A course emphasizing medical terminology for doctors, nurses, nursing aids, orderlies, medical technicians, and other medical personnel whose first language is other than English has been organized by the Faculty of Extension.

This course will stress oral communication between patient and medical staff and among staff members. It will attempt to enlarge the student's vocabulary to include words a patient might use to describe his symptoms, the English equivalent of Latin terms, remedial work in pronunciation, and practice to achieve fluency and ease in oral communication.

The course will be held on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 6 to 8 p.m. for eight weeks beginning May 3. The tuition fee, which includes textbooks, is $50.

Brenda Walters, an experienced teacher of English as a second language, and who has also worked for several years in the medical field, will teach the course.

Additional information about this course can be obtained by calling 432-1497.
